

Lesson 18.1

How School-Age Children Learn

As you are reading, write what you learn about each topic in the appropriate column.

After studying this lesson, you will be able to
explain brain development and cognitive changes that affect children’s learning in the school-age years.	list several major gains in school-age children’s thinking skills based on Piaget’s theory.	name the two ways Vygotsky believed that children learn.	contrast Piaget’s and Vygotsky’s beliefs about the role of language during the school-age years.	summarize the types of intelligences Gardner proposed in his theory of multiple intelligences.