

Adventures in Food and Nutrition! © 2016

Chapter 21: Marvelous Meat and Poultry—Technology Activity

New Food Product Development

To give consumers variety, flavor, and nutrition, food technologists create new products. New variations of all types of food are being added to supermarket shelves. Use the Internet to search for answers to the activity questions.

Activity Questions

1. What new meat or poultry products that appeal to kids can you find in your search. Briefly describe each.
2. More and more people are eating on the run. What are two new handheld products? Describe these foods and explain how they can be eaten on the run.
3. What are three other products that you've found that interest you? Briefly describe each.
4. Come up with your own idea for a "new" beef product and describe it below.