

M&M Event Planning Comes Through

Local company M&M Event Planning was recently called on at the last minute to plan the town's annual awards banquet. Despite less than one-week notice, M&M Event planning came through with a stellar banquet that was enjoyed by all, while staying within the specified budget.

The evening started with a casual gathering in the town's exhibition hall. Refreshments and appetizers were served as guests mingled and caught up with old friends. Following the mixer, the guests adjourned to the banquet room for a full three-course meal. Guest could select from various cuisine, including vegetarian and gluten-free options.

The evening was capped off with the awarding of the annual citations for distinguished service. Each presentation was accompanied by a short slide show of the service provided throughout the year.

As a result of its outstanding service, recommendations have already been noted for M&M Event Planning undertaking the awards banquet next year.
